

BRYAN MAKES FOUR SPEECHES

To Democracy of New Haven and Bridgeport and Attends Receptions.

NEBRASKAN WELL RECEIVED

COL. BRYAN RETURNS TODAY TO CITY OF NEW YORK

Addresses Along the Same Lines as His Speech Delivered in Madison Square.

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 1.—Under pleasant skies William Jennings Bryan came, Connecticut, and his hurried visit must have strongly reminded him of the strenuous days during his presidential campaigns, for he delivered four addresses, each of considerable length, attended two receptions, and was the center of hand-shaking bees whenever his admirers could reach him. Everywhere he was heartily received, although there was an absence of street demonstrations both here and in Bridgeport. His audiences, however, were wildly enthusiastic, especially at the noon luncheon here. The features of the day were the luncheon and the conference of New England Democrats. At the former Mr. Bryan was welcomed to the city and state, and at the latter he stood before a representative body of New England Democrats and with great earnestness spoke of the problems which the party must face in the coming campaigns. Mr. Bryan said in the course of his address that New England never had been a "good breeding place for Democracy; Jefferson had never so considered it; neither did Jackson."

A delay at the start of Mr. Bryan's trip caused an overlapping of the three meetings here to the disappointment of many. The mass meeting on the green had to be started before the luncheon was over, and Democratic conference was not completed until it was time for Mr. Bryan to deliver his third address. The chief change in the program was the inclusion of ex-Governor Garvin of Rhode Island as one of the open-air speakers.

Mr. Garvin spoke at the luncheon, paying a tribute to the uprightness of Mr. Bryan. Mr. Bryan left New Haven for Bridgeport shortly before 6 o'clock, addressing an audience at the Armory in the evening. His addresses at the mass meetings were along the lines of his speech at Madison Square Garden. Today Mr. Bryan will return to New York. Most of the members of his party who were with him left for their homes.

"SECURITIES"

Found in Banker Stensland's Strong Box at Chicago—150 Blank Warranty Deeds Found.

Chicago, Sept. 1.—A private strong box belonging to Paul O. Stensland in the safe deposit vaults of the ruined Milwaukee Avenue State bank was pried open and in it were found 150 blank warranty deeds signed by the "dummies" that were employed by the banker. These deeds are similar in character to numbers of others used by Stensland in his transactions with the bank. His method was to fill in the description of the property, record the deeds as transferred to the "dummy" signers and secure the funds of the bank, depositing the bogus deed with the bank as security for the loan.

STREETCAR STRIKE

In San Francisco May Be Settled by Arbitration. San Francisco, Sept. 1.—There is a favorable outlook for the settlement within the next 24 hours of the strike on the street railways here. President O'Connell, after a long conference with Mayor Schmitz, authorized the offer of arbitration of all disputes between the car men. He insisted, however, that strikers must first return to work. Mayor Schmitz then summoned officials on. At the conclusion of the conference the officials of the union called for a mass meeting of the city. Mayor Schmitz then ended the strike is near. They have already agreed to an trate the dispute over the work hours, and it is thought that they will make a similar concession on the wage question.

Strikebreakers En Route. Ogden, Utah, Sept. 1.—Two trains carrying 850 strikebreakers reached Ogden and departed later for San Francisco. The first train contained men from Philadelphia. While the first train was here the windows and doors were locked and the men were virtually held prisoners. At Green River, Wyo., they raided the depot hotel and since have been held in restraint. The men on the second train mingled freely with local unionists. They nearly all claimed to be in sympathy with unionism, and a committee sent a communication to the local papers saying that they were only taking advantage of a chance to reach California.

Strike on Texas Southern. Shreveport, La., Sept. 1.—A special from Marshall, Tex., says: All the trainmen of the Texas Southern went on strike with the result that several trains were tied up. The men demand a reduction in hours from 12 to 10 and an increase in pay for overtime. The road is in the hands of a receiver, who will meet a committee from the strikers today for the purpose of arbitrating the matter.

BUSINESS BOOMING

Dun & Company Report a Very Encouraging Outlook.

New York, Sept. 1.—In their weekly review of trade R. G. Dun & Company say:

No check to commercial progress can be discerned, while the outlook becomes brighter each week through most encouraging crop reports. Jobbing trade is on a large scale, wholesale business is much better than last year, and after the holiday retail distribution of fall merchandise promises to be very heavy. Manufacturing reports are gratifying beyond precedent, the textile industries alone showing any irregularity. As to cotton goods there is a natural disposition to delay placing orders when better terms seem warranted by the cheapened raw material, but producers make no concessions because of contracts on hand. Woolen goods also hesitate pending a more definite trend in the distributing markets. These uncertainties apply to future business, current trade being of good volume. Higher prices for pig iron emphasize the inadequacy of furnace output, steel mills being embarrassed by lack of material. Similar conditions prevail in the footwear industry, the average of hide prices now eclipsing all previous records. Lower prices for farm staples testify to the certainty of ample crops, which in turn give promise of more liberal exports.

NEW JAP LINE

Railway Company Will Spend Five Millions in Building a Line of Steamboats.

Victoria, B. C., Sept. 1.—The steamer Tartar, from the Orient, brought news that the Japanese government proposes to subsidize a steamship line to connect Dalay with the north Pacific coast of the United States, and also Shanghai and Vladivostok. The south Manchurian Railroad company, practically a government concern, will spend $5,000,000 in constructing steamers in Japan for this purpose, and arrangements have been made for an expenditure of $50,000,000 for the improvement of the railway system between Dalay and Chang Chun.

Refuses to Disclose Identity.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 1.—Premier Stolypin has taken up his residence at the winter palace, in the quarters formerly occupied by Count Witte. The woman who assassinated General Min still refuses to disclose her identity, but she admits that her passport is false.

Robbers Use Automobile.

Kingston, N. Y., Sept. 1.—The automobile robbers who have committed depredations in Long Island, have appeared in this vicinity. Three men and a woman, all masked, entered the postoffice at Highland. They blew open the safe, secured $500 in money and $800 in stamps and escaped in an automobile, when residents, who had been aroused, came on the scene.

Law Unconstitutional.

Montgomery, Ala., Sept. 1.—United States Commissioner Elmore held the Erdman law of congress unconstitutional and discharged Frank Young, a dispatcher of the Louisville and Nashville railroad, from custody. Young been charged with violating the law discharging members of the Brotherhood of Railroad Telegraphers in the city of the road.

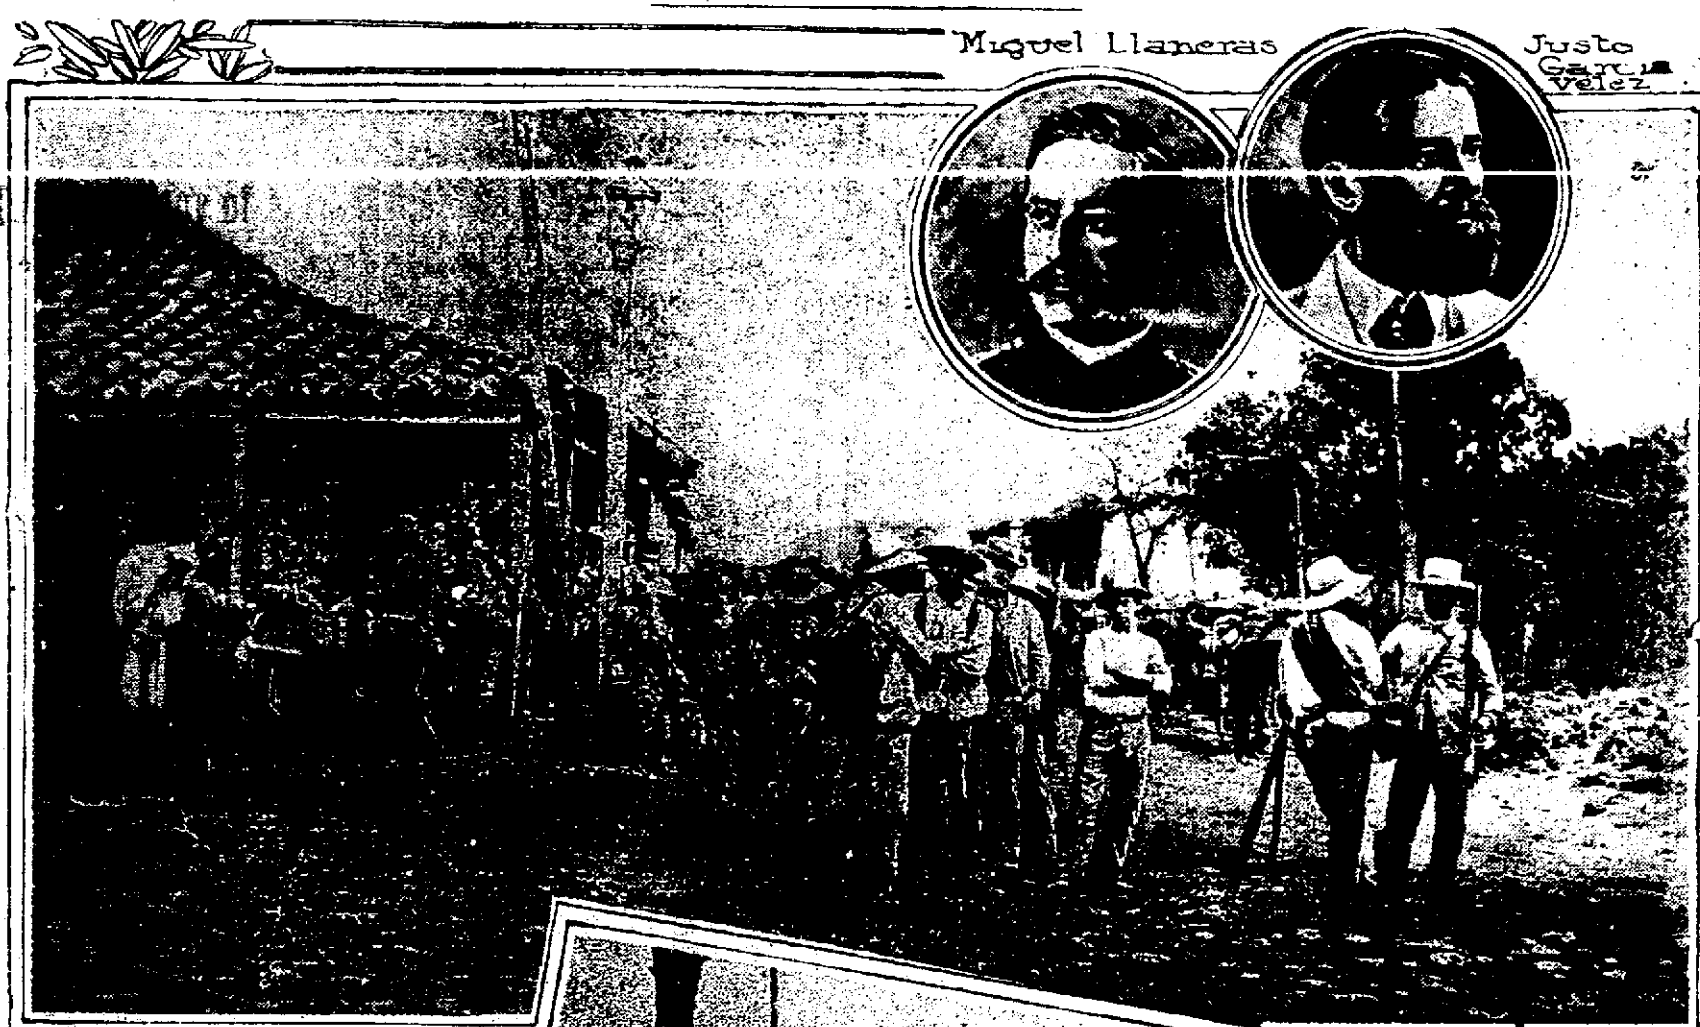

Treasury Statement.

Washington, Sept. 1.—The statement of the treasury balances in the fiscal fund, exclusive of the $150,000,000 gold reserve, shows available balance $200,361,692; gold coin $111,571,308; gold certificates $49,389,570.

BREATHING SPELL IN OHIO POLITICS

INTEREST CENTERED THIS WEEK IN GREAT BRYAN MEETING IN NEW YORK.

Republicans to Have Formal Campaign Opening—Mr. Hoskins to Start Without Formality.

(Special to the Advocate.)

Columbus, O., Sept. 1.—There is something of a lull just now in the political affairs of Ohio, due in part to the main attraction for Democrats since their state convention being the return of Mr. Bryan from a trip around the world, and due in part to the state fair, which mark the interval between the Democratic and Republican conventions.

Former state fairs have had political magnets to draw crowds, a day set apart specially for Democratic speakers and another day for Republican speakers. Last year Roy Knabenshue and his airship brought such clouds of people to the capital during fair week that the politicians were all but forgotten by the populace intent upon the aerial voyager. This year it is the same, and the only figure the politicians will cut at the state fair will be what Democratic candidates for state offices may cut for themselves in a "merry-go-round" mingling with the people to promote their aspirations for election, and what Republican candidates seeking nomination at the Dayton convention may find of personal value in being "on the ground" and meeting people from every nook and corner of the state.

Most of the county Republican conventions have been held. A great deal of stress is put on what this county doesn't do or that county does do with reference to the president or the senators, or congress in general, or "stand pat," or any other pre-convention periods, the Republicans have had a great deal to say, and some of the saying has been rather sharp and testy. Burton has talked, and Herrick has been interviewed and Malloy has been sounded and Dick has thrown down the gauntlet, and Daugherty has uttered his defiance, and Harding has expounded, and finally Foraker cut loose, with a promise of more where it came from if desired, so that taken all together there has been neither lack nor lag in the prelude to the Ohio Republican convention this year.

At the close of the convention, while the host is assembled, and the forensic force is all present and accounted for, the Republican campaign will be formally opened that same night in Dayton. The Buckeye Republican club is going down from Columbus, the marching clubs of other cities will assemble there, and the thunder of the opening guns of the campaign will blend with the echoes of the convention.

There will be no formal opening of the Democratic campaign. When Samuel H. Hoskins starts out on the stump the campaign may be said to be opened for the Democrats.

Ohio people will find an interesting chapter of the state capital in the next issue of the Encyclopedia Britannica. Columbus is claiming for Columbus an estimated population of 186,000 against a little over 125,000 in the federal census of 1900; the city is seven miles wide and six and seven-tenths miles long; it uses in the manufacture of shoes one-seventh of the entire amount of leather consumed in the United States; it has five libraries open to the public with a total of 326,260 volumes; its death rate for 1905 was only 10.55 per 1,000; 145 passenger trains pass through it daily; in building progress Columbus stood second in the United States last year. The sketch names and describes the public buildings, gives a history of the city from the earliest times, and a description of the big public improvements.

It will be remembered that the Pennsylvania Railroad company made the hardest fight of all against the enactment of the 2-cent fare bill by the legislature last winter. That company had its best lawyers and its best statisticians before the committees with an immense array of "facts and figures" to prove that 2-cent fare would drive the railroads to the demolition bow-wows. Now that company is taking the lead in demonstrating that reduced fare is an actual blessing to the railways as well as to the traveling public. For some time there has been controversy as to whether the rate within Ohio boundaries should be calculated in the charges for trans-Ohio tickets. The railroads have been charging the old price for mileage across Ohio on interstate transportation. Complaint was made to Ohio's new railway commission about it, and it was intended to refer the matter to the federal interstate commerce commission if the Ohio commission found it could not reach the matter. When traffic men first met in Chicago to pass on the question they failed to agree. The Pennsylvania took the matter in hand independently and E. A. Ford, passenger traffic manager of the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburgh, notified the commissioner of the Central Passenger association and passenger officials of competing lines that, taking effect as soon as the tariffs can be properly compiled, the interstate passenger fares in which the Pennsylvania lines are interested will be modified, using the 2-cent per mile fares in Ohio as a basis.

From unexpected sources comes approval of 2-cent railway fare in Ohio. The following editorial is from a recent issue of the Wall Street Journal: "The 2-cent fare in Ohio seems to be working out much better than was at first reported. The returns from Cincinnati show that later receipts are on a much larger scale now than under the old rate. The Pennsylvania has come down to the 2-cent rate for thousand-mile books, and the Reading is reported to be figuring on a 2 1/2-cent rate for its entire system. The voluntary action on the part of the Pennsylvania railroad indicates that they expect more traffic at the lower rate than at the higher rate, or that they are anticipating a popular demand which may be enacted into legislation favoring a reduction in passenger fares. It is far better to anticipate than to await the power of legal compulsion. It is perfectly natural that a lower rate of passenger fare should come with an increase in the density of population and increased travel. The influence of trolley lines upon steam passenger traffic is also to be taken into account as one of the causes of this change in the rate basis of passenger business. Then, too, it is being recognized more than formerly that the good will of the public is worth having, not only in an emergency but as a regular thing. The days when public opinion could be trifled with in these matters are gone."

Further steps were taken at a conference here between Governor Harris and the several stewards toward establishing the competitive bidding system in all the charitable and penal institutions of the state. The governor detailed a plan whereby the stewards will devise an order list as near uniform as possible. All possible discounts for prompt payment will be taken advantage of. To aid this, advance purchases will be made at such dates that the bills can go through the state auditor's and treasurer's offices with the least possible delay. The plan will result in saving many thousands of dollars annually on shoes, clothing and similar articles, upon which the discounts range from 2 to 7 per cent. T. F. Dye, Delaware; O. L. Anderson, Columbus; W. N. Hillis, Lancaster; R. B. Claypool, Mansfield, and State Institution Examiner F. C. Rochester were appointed a committee to work out the details of the governor's plan. To make the system practicable, the committee went minutely through the reports of each institution for the last year, and put on the competitive list everything possible.

Investigation into the purchase of supplies and general management of the Athens State hospital was begun at Athens Aug. 30 by a committee of the state board of charities. The inquiry is not to be limited to the conduct of the steward's office alone, but following the instructions of Governor Harris, the scope of the investigation will be extended to include every officer from the superintendent and board of trustees down to the least of the attaches of the institution, who may in any way, directly or indirectly, be connected with its management.

Clinton county Republicans, in their convention, adopted a county local option plank. A great effort will be made to get the county local option plank through, in the hope of winning back the temperance vote. The effort to have a county local option plank inserted in the Democratic platform was defeated first by the resolutions committee and afterward by the convention itself. At Dayton special effort will be made to have not only a county option plank put in the platform, but also planks favoring taxation reform, bank inspection and primary election reform, which were not included in the Democratic platform.

R. O. Hinsdale, a member of the state board of agriculture, died at his home in Medina county after an attack of typhoid fever. Formerly Mr. Hinsdale was a member of the state legislature. His brother, Professor B. A. Hinsdale, is a well known educator and author of text books.

WANT SETTLEMENT

Family of Gen. Lee Will Request the Exposition Company to Pay for Services Rendered.

Norfolk, Va., Sept. 1.—It is understood that the family of the late General Fitzhugh Lee will request the Jamestown Exposition company to pay them $10,000 for services rendered by the former president of the exposition company. General Lee had never had his salary fixed. President Tucker's salary was fixed at $10,000 a year, and this may form the basis of the request.

SOUNDINGS

Show That at Low Tide There is But Ten Feet of Water Under Manchuria.

Honolulu, Sept. 1.—Soundings show that at low tide there is only ten feet of water on the Marchuria's starboard side. It is reported that there is five feet of water in her hold and that she has sustained structural damage along the lines of her bilge and keel. The 2,500 tons of coal she has on board will be jettisoned. Captain Metcalf has engaged a dredger for use in case it should be needed. He says he does not expect to float the steamer in less than two weeks.

SHIP STRIKES ON THE ROCKS

United States Transport in Dangerous Position on Oahu Island.

MANY PEOPLE ARE ABOARD

VESSEL'S SUPPLY OF COAL THROWN OVERBOARD BY CREW

In Attempting to Make Landing Second Officer's Boat Swamped in Breakers.

Honolulu, Sept. 1.—A wireless message reports the United States army transport Sheridan ashore on Barber's point, the southwestern extremity of the island of Oahu, on which this city is located.

The second officer of the Sheridan has come ashore. His boat was swamped in the breakers but its crew landed safely. Captain Peabody has signalled the steamer Caldine to take her passengers to Honolulu. If possible the transfer will be made at once, the revenue cutter Manning assisting. The report that the Sheridan's machinery broke down before the vessel struck is denied. The Sheridan is now hanging on a rock amidst ships with deep water all around.

The Sheridan's engines are being repaired and coal is being thrown overboard. An effort to float her will be made at high tide this afternoon. Captain Peabody is quoted to have assumed all responsibility for the accident, saying that the vessel was in too close. The Sheridan has aboard 125 through passengers and fifty soldiers.

It is thought that many, if not all, of the Sheridan's passengers will be obliged to spend the night aboard the steamer. Only two boats have reached shore, and one of these was badly smashed. A wireless message has been sent for another steamer to assist in taking the passengers off. The surf is heavy and the transfer of passengers will be difficult.

EXCITEMENT

In Japan Caused by Killing of Seal Poachers.

Victoria, B. C., Sept. 1.—The steamer Tartar, from China and Japan, brought news that the killing of the five Japanese seal poachers at Pryloff Islands had caused great excitement in Japan and that the press is devoting columns to the affair. One of the schooners engaged in the affair arrived at Aomori, Hokkaido, shortly before the Tartar sailed, and her officers were instructed to report the occurrence to the government. Some of the papers quoted an unnamed Japanese sealing authority as saying: "In 1901 some Americans, prohibited from sealing under their own flag, started the practice of poaching under the Japanese flag with the assistance of Japanese sailors. Whether the Japanese who were killed or imprisoned were employed by Americans or were acting independently is uncertain, and it is not clear the killing was justified."

developments, sensational in char-

the first time since the suspension of the trust company that there had not been a meeting of the directors of the

this which caused the Clearing House

heads of both women were caved in.
The train stopped and they were

the approaching train.

Rowling Green, O., Sept. 1.—A monster cat has so terrified the residents of Liberty township that only the bravest will venture out after dark, and then only when armed.
The blood curdling screams of the animal awaken the farmers just in time to see the form of the cat hour-
ling away with a young sheep or pig.
Thus far no person has been attacked by the animal though it has been seen by many, who describe it as being as large as a dog, tawny gray,
with very short ears and long tail.
Old hunters identify it as a lynx,
and a party is being formed to hunt
it down.

OUTBREAK IN PUERTO PRINCIPE PROVINCE, CUBA

PALMA CAN NOW POINT TO SINGLE PROVINCE THAT IS UNAFECTED.

ATTACK ON HAVANA PLANNED

Rumor Today That Conspiracy is Hatched to Seize Capital on September 15th.

(Bulletin.)

Havana, Cuba, Sept. 1.—An outbreak of revolutionary activity in Puerto Principe province adds to the troubles of the government. Hitherto this province has remained loyal to Palma and it was the hope of his advisors that there would be no insurrection activity. But yesterday a band of insurgents left the city of Moron, one of the principal ports
for shipping tobacco, to assist the revolutionary cause. The band acted openly, and the men, after arming themselves, marched out of town in an orderly manner. Rurals were sent in pursuit and it is hoped they will be captured.

With an armed band operating
there, the last province remaining loyal has offered its support to the revolution. The government cannot now point to a single province unaffected. There has been renewed talk that intervention by the United States can be the only outcome of the insurrection unless it is speedily checked.
The expected battle between loyalists
and insurgents in Pinar del Rio, has again failed to materialize. Guerra, the insurgent leader, swerved from his course after marching toward Guane to meet the loyalists and moved toward the mountains. In the mountainous section of the province
he can easily elude the government forces for an almost indefinite period. At Havana, a detachment of rurals was sent to Songo last night,
but found no trouble there, although an uprising was reported there yesterday. Reports from the province of Santiago state that everything is tranquil there. Reports of uprisings in Camaguey are confirmed. The appearance last night of two parties of insurrectionists near Sagua, one led by Garcia Canizales, former speaker of the house of representatives, caused great alarm as the province was hitherto quiet. Great precautions are being taken in Havana.
Government officials have learned that an uprising has been planned for September 15. It is rumored that a conspiracy has been hatched
to seize the city on that date.

Havana, Sept. 1.—With the discouraging news from Santiago the situation is darker than at any previous time since the insurrection broke out.
News of an uprising in Santiago province, while not yet published here, is spreading about the city and causing the gravest concern. When Mr. Sleeper, the American charge, was told the contents of the Associated Press Santiago dispatch he endeavored to verify it through the state department, but was told that it was untrue. Subsequently the dispatch was verified from private and newspaper sources. The extent of the rising in Santiago is not known, but it is the opinion here that the worst calamity of all to the Palma

government would be an insurrection
in eastern Cuba.

According to two eye witnesses
Cardenas, which has been considered a peaceful city, was the scene Thursday of desultory fighting between police and rural guards on the one side,
and roving insurgents on the other.

The only province remaining perfectly peaceful is Puerto Principe.
Americans having cattle are apprehensive that this field may become a scene of insurrectionary operations.
The troops in the western portion of Pinar del Rio province have not yet come up with Pino Guerra, and there is no present likelihood of their
doing so, as the troops might march ten years and all the while Guerra would still be just ahead of them in the hills. There are thousands of mountain trails with which the insurgents are familiar and which lead in all directions. If Guerra cared to harrass the government their troops
could be killed off by sharpshooters.
The government has no cavalry at Pinar del Rio and the only real soldiers are the artillerymen, but as they are often aloof they cannot cope with the well-mounted insurgents. Guerra does not want to fight. His scouts can always be seen at a distance from the government line of march.

Americans who come to the legation to ask protection for property are answered by an immediate call upon the government of Cuba, which promises to do the best it can for them. Charge d'Affaires Sleeper advises all such callers to file their complaints in the local courts and forward copies of papers to the legation. There are many rumors in circulation as to what may happen Sept.
15 unless a new election is granted.

With a Penknife the Woman She Saw Flirting With Her Husband on a Trolley Car.

Knoxville, Tenn., Sept. 1.—Mrs. Robert E. Milligan caused a small panic
on a Lonsdale car yesterday afternoon
by stabbing Miss Anna Copet five times with a pen knife. Passengers prevented the angry woman from taking the life of her victim, who was slashed about the face, head and neck. The wounds are not fatal. Jealousy was the cause of the trouble. A month ago Mrs.
Milligan sued her husband, who is connected with the Southern railway, for divorce, attaching his bank account.
The same night Milligan, although enjoined from interfering with her, went to his home, it is said, and was gathering his effects when his wife
shot him with a pistol.

Mrs. Milligan said when arrested,
that Miss Copet was flirting with Milligan, who was on the car. Miss Copet said she thought Milligan was single.

Near the Spot Where His Former Sweetheart Poisoned Herself—
His Sister the Bride.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 1.—Within a few feet of the spot where his former sweetheart, Miss Burley Mc-Gowan, committed suicide nearly two years ago, Clarence Lawson last night married his twin sister, Cecil. Lawson had been paying attention to Miss Bessie Townsend, but differences arose between them and he paid court to Miss Burley McGowan.
Almost immediately rumors concerning Miss McGowan were circulating in the neighborhood, and one night
she paid a long visit to Lawson's mother. Returning home she took strychnine and died within an hour.
Mutual grief formed a bond of friendship between Miss Cecil and Lawson
and it ripened into love.

MR. BRYAN TALKS OF GOVERNMENT R.Y. OWNERSHIP

BELIEVES DEMOCRACY WILL BE EDUCATED TO BELIEVE AS HE NOW DOES.

TO ATTEND BANQUET TONIGHT

Reviews Parade in Jersey City and Attends Three Meetings Held
His Honor Today.

New York, Sept. 1.—William J. Bryan will not retreat from his position
that the federal ownership of railroads is the solution of the country's transportation problem and the paramount issue in the next presidential campaign.

The Commoner believes within the next two years Democracy will be educated to the belief that the government is the natural owner of the railroads. Bryan proposes to lead the propaganda for federal ownership of railroads and between now and the next presidential election, two years
hence, it will be his plan and purpose to lend his every effort to educating the Democracy to his belief. Ten years ago, Bryan made his famous "free silver" declaration. The Nebraskan was nominated for president on that platform in a stampeded convention.
Then followed a campaign of education within a period of a few months preceding the election. Bryan failed of election. The Nebraskan has told his friends he will begin the campaign
of education for federal control of railroads now and that when the hour arrives for the building of the Democratic platform for the next election
the people will demand its incorporation among the avowed Democratic principles. Bryan was much surprised to learn today that so many Democrats had regarded the declaration of his belief in federal control of transportation lines as his obiter dictum to Democratic party. The commoner read the newspapers enroute from Bridgeport to New York today. After he had concluded reading some of the sharp comments on his railroad views, Bryan
said:

"My declaration for federal control
was only the expression of my opinion. I tried to make that clear at that time. I have not talked with any Democrats on the question; and do not know what they think.

"I firmly believe in the federal control of railroads and I am sure they will justify me in the position I have taken. I have no desire to comment on what others have said now."

"A prominent Democrat is quoted as saying today that federal control will disrupt the party the same as free silver did ten years ago" was told him.

"I don't care to discuss what a prominent Democrat says when his name is not given," said Bryan. "I only have this to say at this time that I prefer to discuss the issue in my own way
and not to answer anonymous arguments. In due time I hope to give my views to every section of the country."

"Is it not a fact that the reason why the southerners are afraid of federal control is because of the possible
abolition of the 'Jim Crow' car?" was asked.

"My idea of federal control," said Bryan, "is that the national government should control the trunk lines
and that states control lines feeding
the big trunk lines in their own states.
I think the states would make their own laws."

"How about 'Jim Crow' cars on trains passing over trunk lines through several states?"

"Well, I prefer not to answer these details in a fragmentary way," replied Bryan.

"I shall discuss this issue in detail
later and in my own way."

Bryan left Bridgeport, Conn., shortly before 8 o'clock today for New York.

Today Mr. Bryan held a
with politicians from all country. He went to Newark evening, where he will make a
and later will return to Jersey
where he will dine at the Car-club. After dinner there will be a view of a parade of 10,000 of Jer-sons and three meetings which Bryan will address in various parts of the city. Bryan was slightly hoarse today from his speech making yesterday in New England, but otherwise the stress of his trip had no ill-effect on him. The commoner will be read-
ed a banner by the New York newspaper men tonight.

NERVE TABLETS

Sergeant Orr's Letter

Nerve troubles are real. They lead to disastrous results. That may happen to any one. Zell Nerve Tablets feed starved nerves. That's why they restore perfect health. They build nerve strength. They tone up the nervo-spinal system and make rich red blood.

Read what Sergeant Orr, winner of the Sea Girt championship medal for rifle shooting, says about Zell Nerve Tablets:

NEWARK, OHIO, Sept. 18, 1905.

THE ZELL DRUG CO., Galion, Ohio.

Gentlemen:—I want to express to you my appreciation of your valuable Nerve Remedy—Zell Nerve Tablets. When I began practicing for the annual State Shoot last summer, I was weak, nervous, and far from condition for such an ordeal. I decided on your remedy, the proper one to use in my case, and used it constantly during my practice and during the shoot, and was highly gratified to be able to win the championship of Ohio in this shoot, and to be selected as one of the contestants in the National Military Competition Shoot at Sea Girt. My success I attribute largely to the use of your remedy and continued use of them on and during the Sea Girt Shoot, and give it credit for assisting me very materially in the winning of the title which I now bear, the Champion Military Rifle Shot of the United States.

I regard your remedy as a most valuable one, and would advise any one needing a Nerve Remedy to at least give Zell Nerve Tablets a trial.

Very truly,

Bryan the Leader.

Naturally some of Mr. Bryan's utterances in his New York speech have startled some conservative persons and drawn criticism from the organs representing them. But it must be remembered that other utterances made by Mr. Bryan a decade ago had a similar reception in the same quarter. Time, however, has brought the great majority of the people of the country, including some of its most conservative citizens, up to the same position which Mr. Bryan assumed ten years ago.

Mr. Bryan is nothing if not progressive. He is not content with what has been achieved thus far. The spectacle of a Republican President adopting many of his views of a decade ago naturally encourages him to plant his own standard still further to the front. We are moving rapidly in this country. There are laws on the National and State statute books which it would have been deemed impossible two years ago to have placed there. Two years hence it may well be that some of the severest critics of Mr. Bryan today may be occupying some if not all of the positions he now holds.

The Coshocton Times puts the question this way: "Does Snivver stand on the temperance question, or does he take his sitting?"

George B. Cox of Cincinnati is preserving a silence during all this war of words between Ohio Republicans, doing so on the principle that the least he says the better for the organization.

ASHBROOK

Hands of All Parties Extending —Licking County Man Welcomed in Wayne.

(Wayne Co. Democrat)

Hon. Wm. A. Ashbrook of Johnson, Democratic nominee for Congress from the Seventeenth District, is Woooster and will spend a few days among his friends in Wayne county.

Ashbrook finds himself welcome in Wayne and the hands of all parties appear to be extended to him.

One of the most surprising things about Mr. Ashbrook's canvass in Wayne is the number of Independent Republican voters who declare fervently that they will vote for the Johnstown man for Congress. So far every feature of the contest in Wayne has been a promise of a round majority for Mr. Ashbrook.

Statistics for campaign purposes show that in spite of prohibition in Kansas there are 118 places in the capital city of Topeka where drink may be purchased. It would seem that the question in Kansas just now is not "What's the matter with Kansas?" but "Does prohibition in Kansas prohibit?"

Carry The News to Roosevelt.

The Republican program to unite Arizona and New Mexico as one state appears to be defeated in advance of the vote being taken. Arizona refuses to be merged with New Mexico and sink her identity and political independence.

The leading Republican organs of the two territories have evidently given up the fight. The Phoenix organ advises its partisans not to nominate joint state men for office for county officers, because it says: "It will be impossible to elect any man to office who is not avowedly opposed to joint statehood."

The Tucson Citizen says: "An overwhelming majority of the people of Arizona are opposed to jointure and will settle with the jointists at the ballot box."

The Albuquerque (N. M.) Journal admits defeat of joint statehood and cannot close its eyes to the "very palpable fact that the people of Arizona are overwhelmingly opposed to the proposition and will therefore defeat it."

Thus again is the Democratic position on this statehood matter approved by the people who are interested. Carry the news to Mr. Roosevelt.

DICK OPPONENTS HAVE A LEADER

Harry M. Daugherty Heads the Movement to Dethrone Dick—Bitterness of Republican Factions.

(Special to the Advocate)

Columbus, O., Sept. 1.—The opposition to Senator Dick has at last found a leader. For many weeks there have been murmurings loud and deep against the Akron boss, but for the want of a man who could be relied upon to conduct an open fight and not be subject to political bluffing, the anti-machine campaign in Ohio has been much like the chaotic rioting in Russia. But now the independent have found a man who is not afraid of the cars. Senator Dick himself admits that he is not to be ignored. In his last letter—one comes every day now—Dick says he "regrets the antagonism against the Ohio senators and their friends."

Then he goes on to say that politically he is glad to know that the opposition "has at last found a responsible head." Responsible, he says. Notice that?

Harry M. Daugherty is the "responsible" head of the anti-machine faction. His arraignment of machine rule in his Cleveland speech and his suggestion that the best thing that Dick can do for his party this fall is to have some one else manage the campaign have caused a political sensation. There are many who believe that it means the undoing of Dick. That the latter has not been sitting idly by and has permitted his opposition to grow while he has been in ignorance of it, is proven by his statement that "it has looked long and diligently for a nurse; has sought far and wide to establish its paternity; but until last Saturday when it was publicly adopted, it has gone about like an orphan of a way, looking both sustenance and a patron."

Dick thus admits that the opposition to him has at last reached a point where it must be reckoned with. The junior senator has the remnants of the old machine. Daugherty and his followers, and their number is legion, have not a little of the machine and are also reinforced by those thousands who voted against Herrick last fall. There will be something doing in Ohio every minute from now until the election.

The vote against Herrick last fall played an important part this week in the Jackson county primaries. Now Jackson is not much of a county, but it produced Orin P. Gould. Maybe that is the reason it isn't much of a county. Anyhow, Gould is boss of Jackson county, and warden of the Ohio penitentiary and chairman of the Republican state central committee. There is decided opposition to him in Jackson county and, in the fear that he would lose his job as state chairman if things didn't break his way at home, he decided to take no chances of defeat. So in his call for the primaries he included a provision that no man could vote who did not support Herrick last fall. Of course he won, but he had a mighty narrow escape. The anti-carried 19 out of 23 precincts and showed such strength that they have invited others to their faction. The sun of Gould seems near its setting.

Who'll have Dick's job as chairman of the state executive committee? Nick Longworth was suggested. Not me, he says. Then E. L. Taylor Jr., congressman from the Columbus district, was asked how he would like to run things this year. Couldn't think of it, says Taylor. Elmer C. Dwyer would make a good chairman, said a man who knows. Dwyer says he doesn't want the job. Will Burton take it himself? It is said he may have it if he wants it. Dick wants it mighty bad, but he has made so many bluffs about "letting the delegates settle everything themselves," that those very same delegates are more than liable to cover his bet and call him Dick to the woods and Burton into the lime light.

One week has gone since the Democrats held their state convention, and there is still one fact that will not down. It certainly was a Democratic convention. There was no boss rule about it. Even the newspapers who always hustle for advance photographs of those who will be nominated, fell down on most of the successful ones. Even some of the candidates were surprised. It will be a good story to tell the people.

DICK OPPONENTS HAVE A LEADER

Harry M. Daugherty Heads the Movement to Dethrone Dick—Bitterness of Republican Factions.

(Special to the Advocate)

Columbus, O., Sept. 1.—The opposition to Senator Dick has at last found a leader. For many weeks there have been murmurings loud and deep against the Akron boss, but for the want of a man who could be relied upon to conduct an open fight and not be subject to political bluffing, the anti-machine campaign in Ohio has been much like the chaotic rioting in Russia. But now the independent have found a man who is not afraid of the cars. Senator Dick himself admits that he is not to be ignored. In his last letter—one comes every day now—Dick says he "regrets the antagonism against the Ohio senators and their friends."

Then he goes on to say that politically he is glad to know that the opposition "has at last found a responsible head." Responsible, he says. Notice that?

An Animal Story For Little Folks

WHAT MADE THE DIFFERENCE

The Bengal tiger and the clown in the show had a lively dispute one day as to which of the two was superior. "Pooh!" said the tiger. "There is not the slightest doubt about it. Look at my great strength. Why, with one blow from my paw I could crush out your puny life. Your poor little weakling, I pity you. Your voice is weak, your arms are weak. What chance would you have in a contest with me? You wouldn't hold out for a moment."

"Very well said," replied the clown, "but I carry something in my little think box that can match all your brute strength."

"What do you mean?" growled the tiger.

"I mean," said the clown dryly, "that if you had what I've got and you lack

you wouldn't have walked into that trap in the jungle."

At this the tiger began to roar with rage until the cage shook. But the clown seized his little whip and dealt him blow after blow through the bars. The tiger tore madly from end to end of his cage in a frenzy of anger. He threw himself with all his strength against the iron bars, but the clown smiled and whipped him still.

"You villain!" roared the tiger. "If I could only get at you—"

"Ah, that's exactly it!" smiled the clown. "You can't, my friend, and so I win."

"What do you mean?" said the tiger.

"That brains, which put up those bars to keep you in, are worth all your brute strength. That's all!"—Detroit Journal.

He Was in Trouble.

"I was in trouble, but found a way out of it, and I'm a happy man again, since Dr. King's New Life Pills cured me of chronic constipation," says E. W. Goodloe, 107 St. Louis St., Dallas, Texas. Guaranteed satisfactory. Price 25c at F. D. Hall's drug store.

It is a peculiarity of Russian railways that their stations are generally two miles distant from the smaller towns and villages which they serve. This is said to be on account of the danger of fire, the houses in small places generally being thatched with straw.

AT THE LAKE.

Labor Day at Buckeye Lake Park, under the auspices of the Newark Trades and Labor Council, will be celebrated Monday in a fitting manner. The committee announces the completion of the program, which will consist of various amusements now located at the park and the addition of numerous other attractions that will furnish entertainment for the large crowd that will be in attendance. The committee again states that this celebration at the lake will be in the form of a huge family picnic or outing, and will give the workmen a chance to spend the day with their families at a cool, shady resort, so much different from any other location.

The committee has made ample provision through the railway company for handling the big crowd, and everybody can get to the Lake and back without any inconvenience. About 40 extra cars have been provided and trains will leave the interurban station at intervals of 30 minutes, commencing at 6 a. m. The capacity of the much mooted "bull pen" has been increased to double its former space, and the crowd will be amply protected from the light fingered gentry, another much mooted hobby.

Monday, Labor Day, will positively be the last day of the skating rink at Buckeye Lake, and those who enjoy this delightful recreation should avail themselves of the opportunity to be there at the closing scene.

Dancing in the pavilion, boating, bathing, etc., interspersed with oratory, will lend much to the occasion. Among the local lights that will deliver addresses are Rev. Lester S. Boyce, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, and delegate to the Trades Council from the Ministerial Union, and Hon. Frank A. Bolton, city solicitor of the city of Newark.

It is not expected that the unions will turn out in a body and go to the lake, but everybody has the opportunity of going when and how they please.

Notwithstanding all reports to the contrary the committee gives assurance that Buckeye Lake Park will be the place of the official celebration of Labor Day by the Trades Council. Pack your baskets, take your family and go to Buckeye Lake. The fare is only 25 cents the round trip from Newark.

"Many, O Lord my God, are thy wonderful works which thou hast done, and thy thoughts which are to us: wonder; they cannot be reckoned up in order unto thee: if I would declare and speak of them, they are more than can be numbered." Junior League meeting at 2:30. Epworth league devotional meeting at 5:30, topic, "Christian Testimony and Conversion." Leader Mr. Guy Fisher. Evening preaching service at 7:30. This will be the last Sabbath before conference. Let there be a full attendance of the membership at all the services. Prayer meeting Wednesday evening at 7:30, led by J. L. Montgomery.

Miss May Cray, 147 11th street, Brooklyn, N. Y., writes:

"For more than five years I suffered from rheumatic pains in my joints, and in damp or stormy weather I was obliged to stay in doors."

"Medicine seemed to be of no use until I started using Peruna. I took twelve bottles in all, although it is six months ago since I stopped."

"I have had no return of my old complaint, in spite of the fact that I have been out in all sorts of weather during the severe winter."

No better remedy was ever devised by the medical profession for the mitigation of all climatic ailments than Peruna.

Mrs. J. A. Baker, 380 Locust avenue, Amsterdam, N. Y., writes:

"I feel it my duty to write and tell you what Peruna has done for me, so that all those who are troubled as I was may find the same speedy cure."

"Four years ago I lost my voice, so that I was unable to speak above a whisper for seven weeks. Our family doctor could do nothing for me."

"After seven weeks suffering, I read some circulars in regard to Peruna. I bought a bottle at once and took it in teaspoonful doses every hour, and in two days I could talk. I will never be without it."

Pitcher Joe Stoupe had but little difficulty in administering bitter defeat to the new Marion team here on Friday afternoon and the fans took just as much delight in seeing Drumm's manager go down in defeat as they did a few weeks ago when they were "Zanesville" across the front of their shirts.

The famous spit ball artist, Ace Stewart, who was touted by the Marion writers as the best pitcher in the O. P. league, was Stoupe's opposing slaban and although only seven bull's eyes were counted, they came at times when they meant runs and the Newark base runners cavorted about the pillows as though they were about to fly.

Things looked good at the start for both pitchers. For four innings three men faced the slabmen in each frame except Marion's half of the fourth when Scottie Ingerton doubled to left field, the hit going down the third base line only touching the high places.

Lefty Snyder broke the spell in the fifth when he hit a slow one to Ingerton, and although Scottie fielded it well and quickly Snyder beat out the grounder and was safe. Berryhill followed with a clean bingle and Scottie's scorching scored Snyder. Haval had in the meantime fled to Big Bill Greer and Stoupe's grounder to Stewart retired the side.

Another bunch of tallies came in the seventh. A strange coincidence was the fact that Snyder opened up this bunch of trouble for our Southern friend who was pitching. Snyder singled and Berryhill tried to bunt. He fouled the third attempt and was out. Snyder stole second and Haval sent a long drive to the left field fence, scoring Snyder. Haval himself scored on Winters' drive to short left, between Flood and Ingerton.

In the seventh Gilligan singled and stole second, but died. Ingerton got another double in the eighth and Doyle was put on second to run for Scottie, who has a bad leg. Stoupe threw to Davis in time to catch Doyle, who was leading off too far, and Danny muffed the ball. Doyle took third, this being the only time Marion got a man that far.

There were several clever pieces of fielding. Snyder, Schweitzer and Miller taking part in these. Haval also pulled down a difficult chance. The score:

GIANTS TOMORROW 2 GAMES MONDAY

Morning Game Labor Day Will be Called at 10:30 O'Clock--Afternoon Game Regular Hour.

The Mansfield Giants will be the attraction at Wehrle park tomorrow afternoon and a good game is promised. The Mansfield bunch has been playing some good ball on this trip abroad, hustling the Lanks in two close games at Lancaster. Elston's men took both games from the McVeighs, but not without a struggle. The game tomorrow will be called at 2:15 p. m.

On Labor Day, Mansfield will play two games in Newark. The first game will be a morning affair. The game will be called at 10:30 o'clock to give the union men who take part in the parade ample time to reach the ball ground to see this game. The afternoon game will be called at the usual time.

PART OF HAVAL'S FINE ALREADY PAID

The fine assessed against Captain Haval at Lancaster last Tuesday must come out of Haval's salary. Some of the fans hoped that the baseball company, inasmuch as Haval was fighting for what was coming to the team, would at least stand for a part of it, but Haval will suffer the full penalty.

A number of the fans are helping Haval to stand the fine and already over half of that amount has been raised and will be presented to the captain this afternoon.

Haval should not be called upon to stand one cent of the fine. It is true that he struck the umpire, but the umpire needed it. Bates took both of the games and handed them to Lancaster, and because Haval was man enough to show the umpire how the Newark bunch looked upon his decisions, he is made to suffer for it. Since Haval joined the team, there has been more snap in the bunch than ever before.

It is not right to favor anybody, bordering on rowdy playing but not until this year did the Newark team ever fight for what was coming to them.

TO DECIDE A BET.
A fan asks if Winters' wild throw in Sunday's game with New Castle cost the Norks' runs. To decide a bet the matter was referred to the official scorer. The official score book shows that Winters' error in the first game gave Haval a life on first. Anderson, Clark and Murphy each made outs on hits to first, Haval and Berryhill respectively. Hitting, therefore, did not get any farther than first on Winters' error.

TOUGHENING TENDERFEET.

Simple Life as Practiced by Wealthy Youths in the Southwest.

Ranked in a circle in a shady grove on the banks of Salt Fork of the Arkansas river on ranch "101" in Oklahoma, are a number of comfortable three room summer cottages where a number of young men from Boston, New York, Brooklyn, Cincinnati, Los Angeles and Chicago are playing cowboy and enjoying the novelty of ranch life, says the Ponca City (Okla.) Courier. They are the sons of wealthy parents and have been sent west to get strong muscles, good lungs and a rich, deep tan on their cheeks. They pay handsomely for their entertainment and enjoy luxuries as well as the usual comforts.

The members of this tenderfoot colony eat their chuck in common in a dining hall 25 by 50 feet in size, and the waiter is an unusually dark complexioned Sambo. A bathroom with porcelain tubs adds to the comfort of the colony. One cottage is used as a library and clubroom. The apartments of the tenderfeet are adorned with college pennants, pictures of handsome young women and such other things as attract the fancy of college students.

The contract for entertainment provides each guest with a good horse, saddle and bridle. The other cowboy paraphernalia is purchased by the tenderfoot, and some of the outfits would cause Alkali Ike and his friends to stand wide eyed in astonishment. The tenderfeet choose their own hours for rising. When ready for their day's jaunt a genuine cowboy brings a bunch of ponies from which the riders choose their mounts. Visitors from nearby towns are entertained occasionally at dancing and cards. Ranch "101" trains polo ponies for eastern markets, and in this sport the eastern tenderfeet are more at ease than in punching cattle.

The tenderfeet are a good natured lot of young men and enjoy the bantering of their western acquaintances. It is said that for general safety and to insure their return to their parents, each tenderfoot, upon his arrival, is photographed for purposes of subsequent identification should he become lost. After he has cast his store clothes and arrayed himself in sombrero, blue flannel shirt, leather leggings, high heeled boots and spurs, he is photographed a second time to permit his being traced and located should he wander away in his wild west outfit.

Mr. Sawyer was a member of the 27th O. V. I. and was color-bearer of the 17th regiment of infantry of Ohio National Guards for many years.

The funeral services will be conducted by Rev. Mr. Mitchell at the late home on Sunday at 2 o'clock, and interment will be made in the Hebron cemetery.

LOSS OF LIFE IN OHIO.

Columbus, Sept. 1.—Ohio's contribution to the insatiable miniature of recklessness and disregard of human life on railroads in August was 74 lives. No passenger was killed. Railway employees to the number of 29 were killed. Forty trespassers on railway property lost their lives and five "travelers on the highway" were gathered in the death harvest. These statistics were compiled by the State Railway Commission.

In eight years the population of Osaka, Japan, has increased from $11,800 to over 1,022,000. The number of factories has increased by 931.

IDENTIFIED BY A METAL CHECK

THE ITALIAN KILLED BY E. & O. TRAIN FRIDAY WAS ALEX. ANDER MICALO.

Body Will be Buried in Potters' Field Unless Friends Claim It Very Soon.

By means of a metallic check No. 7, used by his time keeper, the young Italian who was killed by E. & O. train No. 105 Friday morning west of Summit Station, as published in Friday's Advocate, was identified as Alexander Micalo. The man's body was cut squarely in two. The mangled fragments were picked up, put in a tub and carried to Columbus.

On account of the great difficulty in keeping records with the names of the Italian laborers employed on the railroads, it is the custom to issue metal checks to the men, and their pay envelopes are made up according to the numbers, and are issued to them upon presentation of their checks, which are for purposes of identification only.

In this case the metal check bearing the inscription "No. 7" was found in the pocket of the victim, and was the only means of identification. Unless some one claims the body very soon, it will be buried in the potters' field.

Micalo was employed on the bridge work improvement of the B. & O. and Pan Handle, near Black Lick, and was on his way to work when killed.

Probate Judge Brister decided the divorce case of Harry H. McConnell against Margaret C. McConnell Saturday morning, by refusing the petition of plaintiff for a decree of divorce. The court further decided that the defendant did not ask for divorce, but did ask for alimony; that the child, who is three and one-half years old, would be awarded to the mother for the present and that the plaintiff be ordered to pay to the defendant for the support of herself and child the sum of $30 per month, until he becomes of age.

An Animal Story For Little Folks

The Wolves and the Cougar

Once there were two wolves who had a chicken tree, in which fowls were very fond of roosting.

One day when they went down to the chicken tree to get each of them a bird they heard a snarl-sharply sound and found feathers all around the tree, while every bird for a mile around was either eaten or scared away.

"Who has been robbing our chicken tree?" cried the wolf brothers together. "Your chicken tree? Your chicken tree? Your chicken tree?" snarled the cougar, who lay, gorged full, at the bottom of the tree. "Who gave you this chicken tree? Who gave you anything? Who are you, anyhow?"

The wolf brothers made haste to say that nobody had given them the chicken tree, that nobody had given them anything and that they weren't anybody and didn't count anyhow, but their hearts were hot and sore while they said it.

As they were settling away they met Bruin, the bear. And when he heard their story he told them of a trap which the hunters had set for the cougars down by the brookside.

"Lead him there," said Bruin, "and you may have your revenge, also you may have as many chicken trees as you can find."

So the wolves went trembling back and told the cougar that they had found a much finer chicken tree for him. When they came to the spot where Bruin had told them the trap was they stepped aside and said they could not walk ahead of so great a person, that he must lead the way and let them follow.

Snap went the trap on the old cougar's foot.

"There," said the eldest wolf brother, "that will teach you not to insult people after you have robbed them."—Worcester Post.

LODGE NEWS

Red Men.

Minnewa Tribe No. 52 Improved Order of Red Men met in regular session on Friday's sleep with all chiefs on their stumps. Only one brother was reported as being unable to follow the hunt. Brother Mike Monahan of Lulluosa tribe, No. 71 of Montpelier, Ind., was reported as being under the care of the Relief Chief.

Minnewa tribe has been granted a special dispensation by the Great Sachem S. M. Gorham, to open their charter for a period of 90 days, from September 1 to December 1 to admit palefaces for a reduced fee. Palefaces of good moral character and possessing good health may join Minnewa Tribe No. 52 between the ages of 21 and 30 years for $10; 30 to 35 years for $12 and 35 to 40 years for $15 for the full third degree.

On next Friday's sleep there will be work in the Warriors' degree and a good turn out of the chiefs and members is desired.

Royal Arcanum.

The Royal Arcanum has proven the wisdom of its supreme officers in making the recent change in rates. Its surplus is growing, its membership is increasing and there is a feeling that all is well.

Bayard Taylor Council has paid $150,000 or beneficiaries of its members, and in many cases the amount so paid was the sole sustenance of the widow and orphans. Fraternal insurance affords protection to all, but especially is it a God-send to the laboring man who has a wife and children dependent upon him or their support, and perchance a home with a mortgage.

Bayard Taylor Council has lost two members within the last six months, Brother Allen B. Coffman, whose widow received $2000, and Rollin J. Smith, insured on a like amount.

The next session of the local council will be held September 9, 1906, and the usual good time may be looked for by those who attend. The hall should be well filled on this occasion.

The picnic held by the Odd Fellows of Licking county at Idlewild park on Thursday, was a grand success in every particular. Odd Fellows and their friends from every part of the county were in attendance, and all had a glorious time. There was a

HARRY VARDON, THE "GOLFER OF THE AGE."

Latest Portrait of Harry Vardon.

No matter what people think about strokes—two strokes better than his golfers there is not the slightest question but everybody believes Harry Vardon the most consummate golfing artist of the age.

There is a touch of genius about his play which all other players, however eminent, seem to lack; and it is indeed good news for his countless admirers that his health seems to be at last on the mend. Certainly his most recent performance at Tottenham shows him in the very best form, and it is clear that his Irish holiday has done him a deal of good.

On Monday he went around in all his program of events and amusements, which was carried out, and which was very much enjoyed.

There was very little doing in Odd Fellow circles in Newark during the past week, the only thing of importance being the conferring of the first degree in Newark lodge on Monday evening.

Burton, in an interview, replies to the recent statements of Senators Dick and Foraker and accepts the challenge of the former for a discussion in the coming Ohio state Republican convention of certain measures pending in the last congress, and upon which there was a difference of opinion among Ohio senators and members of congress. Congressman Burton accepts the challenge of Senator Dick for action by the whole convention on the subject of the railroad rate bill, the ship subsidy bill, the Philippine tariff, the enlargement of the navy, and the place of purchase of supplies for the Panama canal. In addition he declares that the convention should favor a state primary election law and the nomination of state officials and United States senators by popular vote.

SOMETHING NEW.

New York, Sept. 1.—Miss Mary Shaw, a well known actress, and Mr. Algernon St. John Brennan, a dramatic critic, have not been idling this summer in the picturesque way that actors and writers are supposed to indulge themselves.

On the contrary they discussed the great modern problem and decided that Angel's treatment of Tess as developed in the dramatization of Hardy's novel is out of tune with the advance of modern thought.

Having reached this conclusion, their summer vacation was spent in collaboration upon a modern play, dealing with a problem similar to that of "Tess," but with a different ending. And having volunteered so much information neither author will say one word more about the plot.

The play will be produced by Miss Shaw on her tour which begins early in October.

CLOSING HOUR OF THE INSTITUTE

CITY TEACHERS TO HAVE THEIR MEETING AT HIGH SCHOOL,
SEPT. 4-7.

Professor Miller Spoke Friday Afternoon on "How to Teach a Great Poem."

After the election of officers at the Licking County Teachers' Institute
Friday afternoon, the result of the election having been announced in Friday's paper, the work of the week's meeting was soon concluded.
The City Teachers' Institute will be held the coming week at the High school chapel.

Dr. Miller, who had been crowded off the morning program for want of time, was given the first hour, and took his morning subject, "How to Teach a Great Poem." He modestly suggested the methods proposed as suggested, not arbitrary.

Good teaching must be inspirational,
or it will mean nothing.

First, let us consider the national airs. To the German, "The Watch on the Rhine" suggests all that is dear in the Fatherland; to the French, the "Marseillaise" hymn is the very essence of patriotism. In our own country "America" stands at the head,

but is properly appreciated by few.
For one thing, it was written by Dr.
Smith at a time when the East was all our country. It lacks the full characteristics of a real national air, since
there is no reference to the west,
which at that time of its writing did not exist as the United States. Recently Dr. Vandike has suggested two stanzas which, added to the original,
would supplement and complete the sentiment. The thought and sentiment of his lines is in no measure inferior to that of Dr. Smith. This addition would make "America" a distinctly national poem. Some critics hold, however, that the tune of "God Save the King," should be changed for something more distinctly American.

The Englishman, wherever he may be,
always stands when he hears England's national air. This is a custom which America might well borrow.
In America we are proud of the first poet of his race—Paul Lawrence Dunbar, born of full-blood negro slave parents. He put his own soul into his verses. William Dean Howells, one of his ardent admirers and supporters,
has gathered together in a little volume, his finest poems, and from these
Dr. Miller read especially beautiful selections.

He then proceeded with specific explanation of what he considered the most nearly ideal method of introducing a pupil to the beauties of English poetry—suggesting, as perfect poems
for the purpose, Shelley's "Skylark" or Holmes' "Cambrer Nantilus." Choosing
the latter poem for presentation, Dr. Miller uniquely illustrated by means of the real chambered nantilus
which he held up before his hearers.
Then, proceeding with the reading of the beautiful lines, one by one, they received careful analysis and explanation. From the beautiful chambered nantilus itself, the sweetness and beauty of the poem can be realized as in no other way.

It will pay you, many, many times
over, to make a selection of one good poem, and to learn all that possibly
you can find to learn about it.

All the work of the afternoon was necessarily much abridged, so for Miss Dollison's last lecture two vocal solos were substituted, both of which were highly appreciated: "A Cradle Song,"
by Miss Berger, and "Sing Me to Sleep" by Mr. Layton, who had been heard before in the Arion Quartette
lectures.

Resolved, That we tender our thanks
to all who helped to make the music which contributed to the pleasure of the institute, a success.

Resolved, That we tender our thanks
to Rev. Mr. Bennett and Rev. Mr. Miller
for conducting the devotional exercises.

Resolved, That the institute express its appreciation of the entertainment
furnished by Mrs. L. W. MacKinnon and Miss Price.

Resolved, That we as a body do heartily approve of the social function of Tuesday evening, and that we recommend that the Executive committee
make it a permanent feature of the institute.

Resolved, That we express our thanks to the retiring secretary of the O. T. R. C. for his untiring efforts in promoting the work during the year
just passed, and that the teachers be urged to give their support to the new secretary and the township secretaries;
and be it further

Resolved, That the teachers of the county be commended for their interest in the institute, and for their punctuality in attendance and that they be urged to manifest a like interest in the quarterly associations the coming year.

By Clever Narrative Man Obtained
His Release—Scott Destroyed
the Check.

E. J. Scott, the traveling salesman
who was arrested here by Officer Carroll for the Coshocton authorities, obtained his release in that city Friday
by a clever story. He told the officers that he had funds in the bank in Portland, but that his wife had attached the account. He asked for the return of the check, and his request was granted by C. M. Hay, the jeweler who was victimized. Scott immediately tore the check into bits.

The Coshocton Age says that the action of the officers was exactly proper as the message from the Portland bank read: "C. J. Scott
check fraudulent and worthless."

His innocence is doubted by some Coshocton people who were interest-

SHERMAN LETTER TO GOV. HUMPHREY

Relating to Famous Seventy-Sixth Regiment Read at Reunion in Ulrichsville Thursday.

In connection with the reunion of the old Seventy-sixth O. V. I. held in Ulrichsville on Wednesday and Thursday the following letter written by General Sherman to Governor Humphrey of Kansas, relating to this famous regiment, will be read with interest by all old soldiers in Licking County.

St. Louis, Mo., April 2, 1886.

Hon. L. U. Humphrey:

It always affords me great pleasure to answer such letters as yours and to bear testimony to the merits of the organizations which I once had the honor to command. I remember perfectly the 76th Ohio Vol. Inf., which served under my command substantially during all the Civil war after Shiloh, and I can muster the regiment now before my memory with distinctness of the day (Nov. 1863). I rode into Ringgold, and you ran across the fields to hail me, "Uncle Billy, take us back home with you. We don't like to serve here." Your division under Osterhouse had been cut off by the breaking of Brown's Ridge, which threw you with Hooker, till the enemy had been driven from Chattanooga and beyond the gap at Ringgold. I have known Chas. B. Woods, W. B. Woods and Willard Warner, since they were field officers of the 76th in 1861 till now, and on hundreds of occasions have borne testimony to their merits as officers and gentlemen. I have had the highest opinion of the military experience and skill of C. B. Woods, and advanced him from his regiment to a brigade and division during the war. He had the full capacity for a corps, but no vacancies occurred. I was always a great admirer of very brave of the 15th Corps and have it did as much honest work and hard fighting as any corps in the whole army. Gen. C. B. Woods, called from active service on his own application on the 14th of December, 1871, took up his residence at his old home in Newark, O., where he died Feb. 26, 1885. His older brother W. B. Woods is now a member of the Sherman Club of the U. S. in Washington and Willard Warner after serving with marked distinction throughout the war, settled in Alabama, serving one term as U. S. senator and is now in charge of a valuable iron furnace at Tuscumbia, Atlanta. With the record of serving from Donaldson to Vicksburg, Chattanooga, Alabama, Savannah, Columbus, Raleigh, etc., to Washington, every officer and soldier of the 16th Ohio should have a right of nobility. Thank your letter.

W. T. SHEPHERD.

ENGLISH SPARROW
A MARAUDER AND
GENERAL NUISANCE

(Written for the Advocate.)

That ingenious marauder, the English sparrow, is doing his very best to merit the hatred in which he is held almost universally throughout the United States. That he is thus hated is entirely his own fault. Introduced into this country as a benevolent assimilator of worms, no alien ever came to our shores more gladly welcomed, more tenderly protected. Had he lived up to his early reputation for usefulness he would be the most popular of all our immigrants. But he has basely betrayed our confidence in him. His appetite craves very few insects, whereas his consumption of cereal grains is enormous. It is estimated that the destruction he makes in wheat fields is so great that all the poor of our country could have plenty of bread from wheat he eats and wastes. Think of it; and there are two million families in this land who are habitually anxious to the source of their next meal.

To this waste he has added another destructive habit, that of pecking out the top kernels of corn while in the stalk. This habit seems to be a recent acquisition. At least the writer observed it for the first time in the summer of 1905. That season was wet, the amount of rainfall almost equalling that of the present summer, and the growth of vegetation was rank. The ears of corn, in some cases grow so rapidly as to protrude from the husk at the end. Mr. Sparrow noted this new phenomenon and investigated. He discovered that the grains of corn were small, tender and juicy. Here was his table spread with another luxury, well calculated to stimulate his appetite, jaded with the long continued feast in the wheat and oat fields. He has now learned to strip off the husks in order to reach his banquet, not all the husks of course, but enough to cause the ear to rot. This habit seems likely to result in even greater loss than his assaults on the wheat fields have caused.

Considering that very little can be said in favor of the English sparrow, why should he not be pursued with systematic and remorseless vengeance? His voice is a discordant squawk; his temper is quarrelsome and intolerant; his nesting habits are unpleasant. These are aesthetic objections, but they are valid. And add to them the more serious, the economic objections, and he is a criminal of colossal guilt. He should be hunted ruthlessly. We can never be entirely rid of his tribe, but we can surely decimate it. His nests should be broken up, wherever found, young and old should be killed wherever possible. Children should be

BLACK APPOINTS WOMAN.

THE MODERN SCHOOL FROCK

The fashions of the grown-ups are followed—at a considerable distance. It must be admitted—by those of the younger generations, but there is just enough of a resemblance between the two styles to bring them into a certain amount of harmony. In the sleeve, perhaps, more than in any other part of the garment, is the trend of the current style noticeable; and pretty much the same sleeve designs are used today for mother and daughter. For the growing youngster, however, who seems to cultivate an especial knack of displaying an undue length of limb at knee and wrist, the use of the bishop sleeve, with a more or less deep cuff, that can be either renewed or lengthened, and either a very deep hem or a couple of tucks in the skirt, that may be let down, will forestall the

A CELERY FARM
EAST OF NEWARKSWAMPY LAND CONVERTED INTO A VERY PRODUCTIVE
GARDEN.

Mr. Weiant is About to Build Mammoth Green House to Grow Vegetables.

A remarkable example of what may be done by ditching and draining is the celery farm known as "Little Kalamazoo," now in the process of cultivation on the land of Mr. W. S. Weiant near his country residence east of the city, where Mr. Weiant's elder son, Carl Weiant, has converted a swampy lowland of the most unpromising appearance into one of the most beautiful and profitable celery farms in the state.

Mr. Weiant decided to undertake the cultivation of the strip of lowland and swamp lying just east of the Weiant home. The land was full of water and tall growth of swamp grass and weeds and at first appearance promised little. Shortly after conceiving the idea, Mr. Weiant associated with himself Mr. Robert Dunkley of Kalamazoo, Mich., whose father was the first man to discover the extensive celery ground at that place. Mr. Dunkley had always worked with his brothers in the celery business until they became known all over the United States. He came here on last Thanksgiving day, and, after examining the swamp, pronounced it the very best for celery growing purposes. The work of tiling and draining the land was then begun in earnest and since that time an average of 20 persons has been employed on the immense celery field every day. The product together with onions which are cultivated quite extensively with the celery, is sent to the markets of Columbus, Zanesville, and other places, including this city, and sold under the name of the "Blue Ribbon" brand, the bunches being tied with blue tape.

The view over the beautiful, green, straight rows of celery, in all about a quarter of a million stalks, combined with the appetizing odor coming from the field, gives one an impression not soon to be forgotten, especially when it is remembered that there are very few celery farms in this part of the United States, in fact only two others of any importance in the state. In all at "Little Kalamazoo" there are seven acres in celery and five on the same ground in onions of the large red and yellow varieties which will yield a crop of about 2000 bushels this year.

The water used is from a full flowing spring at an elevation of 14 feet from which the water flows to a hydraulic ram and is pumped to a tower on the height near the residence.

The first celery plants are placed in the ground about the first of April and after July a second crop is planted with the first, and about August 1 the plants are sent to the various markets. The business at the Weiant farm is becoming so extensive and profitable that it is being made necessary to erect a freight house at the suburban stop at this point in order to care for the large shipments to the markets of Newark, Columbus and Zanesville.

Another, and most convenient improvement, will be a large greenhouse, 90 feet in width and 200 feet long, which is to be erected soon in which early cucumbers, tomatoes and lettuce will be cultivated. The building will occupy about one-half acre of the ground space and will be entirely of glass, two car loads being required for it. The material has all been ordered and work will begin on the new structure during the coming week. It will take a mile and a half of pipe to complete the hot water heating apparatus for the greenhouse.

Mr. Weiant has been to a great expense in draining and cultivating the land, but it is believed that he is being fully repaid by the fine grade of celery and onions for which the "Little Kalamazoo" is rapidly becoming noted.

THE REAL TEST.

Of Herpicide is in Giving it a Thorough Trial.

There is only one test by which to judge of the efficiency of any article and that is by its ability to do that which it is intended to do. Many hair vipers may look nice and smell nice, but the point is—do they eradicate dandruff and stop falling hair?

No, they do not, but Herpicide does, because it goes to the root of the evil and kills the germ that attacks the papilla from whence the hair gets its life.

Letters from prominent people everywhere are daily proving that Newbro's Herpicide stands the "test of use." It is a delightful dressing, clear, pure and free from oil or grease.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

By a police order now in operation in Paris laundries must disinfect all garments as soon as they are received. Clothes must be conveyed to the laundry in hermetically sealed bags, and on their arrival be sealed in an antiseptic solution. The work people are to wear special clothes, which also are to be disinfected.

Long on production but short on salesmanship is true of the average farmer.

SCENES AND SIGHTS ABROAD

BY MARY BELLE SMITH SHEPARDSON

(Special to the Advocate.)
London, Eng., Aug. 25.—On May 9th I arrived in New York with bag and baggage labeled for London. After spending the night with some friends in Brooklyn I was accompanied by them the next morning to the wharf where the Barbarosa, German Lloyd Line, was awaiting. The arrival of her many passengers who were hurrying hither and thither to check baggage, tip their drivers, change money and putting on the usual finishing touches of the traveled American enroute for a foreign land.

The day was a fine one, indeed. The weather promised us her very best dress and a beautiful passage. Promptly at 10 a. m. the gong sounded and the gung-plank was drawn in and our ship passed proudly out of New York harbor. With the American flag aloft, and hundreds of friends as far as the eye could see, waving loving farewells to those on board and a fine German band playing the "Star Spangled Banner" we all felt assured of "the good time a-comin'."

I stood alone amidst the pushing crowd on the deck studying the different groups of people. The half humorous and pathetic scenes, as a casual observer apart from it all, and yet sharing with each one the joy and sorrow that every eye shows forth.

Soon the deck is quiet and we find chairs at a premium in the first cabin waiting room. Passengers are sending their last farewell messages to American friends before they reach their destination. Those of us who are so fortunate as to have fountain pens are soon on deck with writing material and see our letters safely placed in the hands of the steward.

I was very tired, and did not wish to talk, so I made my nest in the lee of a deck cabin, with my Indian blanket wrapped about me, my steamer cap on with velvety tied under my chin in a sister-of-mercy looking style. In short, I was all covered up but my nose, and I should have tucked that in had nature not rebelled. At 12 o'clock we were a hungry crowd and promptly at the sound of the gong we walked into the dining room to partake of all the "goodies" that are to be enjoyed on an American liner. And so the days passed. We had a very smooth passage, and quoting the captain who said: "Yes, smooth and uneventful."

After a day or two each found her own friends and a happy time ensued. Frauline Koch, (a composer of some merit) and her sister from New York, also Coturea, the renowned cornetist, were on board and we were favored with two recitals which all seemed to enjoy.

We were landed in Plymouth, England, May 17, at midnight, and soon we were all driven to the Crown Prince Hotel where we spent a comfortable night. Next morning being Sunday, I found my way to the old First Baptist church, that entertained the Pilgrims while they stopped at Plymouth on their way to found a new colony on the rugged reefs of our American shore.

I soon found the assistant pastor, who told me with no small pride the story and presented me with a neatly bound little book containing all the important facts of that memorable event. As I stood on that sacred spot that marks the last stopping place of that brave little company on British soil, I thought, "Is this not enough to inspire every man to do his duty?" What it must have meant to them, and what it all means to us as free Americans, we can only appreciate in part now. I have talked with Russians, Germans, English and French. They all seem to be looking at the United States just now, wondering what the outcome of the war of prosperity we are now enjoying will be. Truly, we are now a very conspicuous Nation. Shall we be true to our trust?

After spending some time in Plymouth, I came to London, which is truly the greatest and most interesting city in the world—a city whose problem is in dealing with millions where others have thousands.

From the many letters of introduction I had to some of the prominent ministers of London, I soon found a quiet, comfortable hotel in Russell Square, known as the Montague, next door to the British Museum. From here, in five minutes walk, any point of the city may be reached, either by bus or underground railway, commonly called the "Tube." I had no difficulty in finding my way about—visiting on excursion days historic points about London, Stratford-on-Avon, Oxford, Warwick and other places.

It was my privilege to see that historical play known as "The Pageant" in Warwick. Two thousand persons, men, women and children, were costumed in styles characteristic of the different centuries bearing the first Roman Mission, the crowning of Queen Elizabeth, the phitheatre accommodation, and was packed from the gallery. Three hundred riders with their horses arrayed for battle, in which men ed during those long centuries ago, I was very fortunate to get a ticket, and only secured one from a small boy at the hotel with whom I made friends. I was afterwards loaned a libretto by the librarian and sat by a lady who shared her opera glasses with me, so I came out most gloriously and saw the whole display at the small sum of two shillings, and sat in a two guinea box.

The great Handel Festival occurred this year in Crystal Palace, and I also had the privilege of hearing 4,000 voices render the greatest of all great musical treats—The Messiah.

After several weeks I was invited to spend some days in the Baptist Hotel of East London, there living and seeing the manner in which the people of that district manage to get along. Here I could write pages, but only briefly shall I endeavor to sketch an outline of my week's experience. I called many times with the workers in the hotel on the various families connected with the parish. To give even a partial analysis of the scenes of poverty and distress that met my eyes would be too sad to read. Here life is an unending struggle from the early hours of the day till the late hours of the night. There are those who never learn to do anything well on the one hand, and those who can't get up in the morning on the other. Those who are slow, taking two hours to do what another man would do in one, and those who are too restless to keep any employment long. Those who are incapacitated by bad sight or failing nerves and lastly there is every degree of weakness of intellect. I visited a number of the free schools in this district and there one sees the sad side of a half lived life and its inevitable results.

While standing in the middle of a great play ground during recess, a little girl with curly head and brown eyes came up to me and said: "I'd like to go home with you for they say in America no one ever goes hungry and everybody is kind."

As I looked down at the child and seeing the shoes tied on her feet and her little pinafore all in holes, I didn't have the heart to spoil her youthful dreams, so I said: "Come on, we will see how many times we can jump this rope together." As the bell soon rang and called all to order, I left the playground, thanking God that I had been born under the Stars and Stripes, where the public school system of training the scholars and the carpenter's daughter to-morrow fywpywpy of our great nation.

The drain from the country is one of the greatest of the unsolved social problems of London. "It has been admitted by all, deplored by most, explained and analyzed by none." There are many philanthropic societies in East London, the Baptist hotel being one of them, and is doing a great work. The sisters seem to be never tired and always ready for the discouraged heart, constantly calling and caring for the weaker ones. With the great problems before them if sometimes seems useless to begin, but they are encouraged when they see how sometimes a little heaven lightens the whole loaf.

And now leaving London for fresh air and new scenes I am off for Switzerland, sailing via New Haven and Dreppe. Then to Paris and on to Lucerne.

"And it is oh to sail with the wind to steer
Where line knee-deep in the water stand
In a Highland loch or a lowland mere,
When fans for a penny are sold on the strand."

The Praise That Comes from Thankful Newark People.

One kidney remedy never fails. Newark people rely upon it. That remedy is Doan's Kidney Pills.

Newark testimony proves it always reliable.

F. Lisey, commission merchant, of 39 South 4th St., Newark, N. J., says: "I have had no occasion to use any kidney medicine since 1896, and therefore think more than ever of Doan's Kidney Pills. They have kept me in good health at that time. I am now 62 years old and I made no mistake in purchasing Doan's Kidney Pills. I will repeat my experience to her suffer."

"I was distressed and my back ached. I never enjoyed the life I had until I had taken Doan's Kidney Pills. I feel better now than I have for years."

FAMILY REUNION

At Country Home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hobbs North of St. Louisville Saturday.

On Saturday, August 25th, the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Hobbs, four miles north of St. Louisville, was the scene of much pleasure, when the children of Mrs. Mary Gregg of Fallsburg, with their families together with a few immediate friends and neighbors, were again united, not having all been together since a year ago, when they enjoyed one another's presence at the old homestead. All of the children were present except two, Mrs. Melvin Wright of Coshocton, and Rev. T. J. Gregg of Rhode Island, who were detained because of sickness. Those who were present were Mr. Wm. Gregg and Mr. Elmer Gregg, both of whom reside west of Vanatta; Mr. L. L. Gregg of Utica, Mr. John Gregg, of Fallsburg; Mrs. Clark Thomas of Newark; Mrs. George Pipes of Fallsburg; Mrs. Russell Wolfe of Windy Fork, and Mrs. Joseph Hobbs who is a half-sister of the above named.

At an early hour the guests with well filled baskets, began to arrive, and continued to do so until near the noon hour. The forenoon was occupied in renewing old acquaintances, in forming new ones and in having a social good time in general. At 12 o'clock dinner was served. The tables were set on the lawn and were loaded with good things. Music, both vocal and instrumental, was the order of the afternoon.

Prof. B. F. Preston and family of Chatham, rendered some beautiful selections of music in a way which only the professor knows how. Mr. Ben Weaver handled the violin with skill, while different ones presided at the organ during the day.

Social jest was abundantly interspersed by age and youth alike and all forgot their cares for a time. The day itself was ideal. Nature having blessed us with one of those bright sunny days, which clear the cobwebs from our brain and make our lives worth living.

There was naught to mar the day except an undercurrent of sadness which was present when we looked over the crowd and missed the dear ones that were absent. They will not present with us again at our reunions, but they have already preceded us to our Father's home where we shall all be reunited to compose an unbroken family. Nothing shall be no more.

SUES FOR DIVORCE

Mt. Vernon Man Alleges That His Wife Refused to Take Cure for Liquor Habit.

Mt. Vernon, O., Sept. 1.—Thomas Brown, a saloonist, has sued his wife, Catherine Brown, for divorce. They were married September 19, 1901, and have no children. Plaintiff says that for more than three years his wife has failed to cook his meals, to care for his home and children, and has no regard for her duties. He alleges that for three years last past she has been guilty of drunkenness, and avers that she has allowed and kept herself in such an intoxicated condition that it has been unsafe for the plaintiff to allow his minor children to remain at home. He avers that he has done everything in his power to prevent defendant from securing liquor and that in June, 1903, he took her away for treatment for the liquor habit and when he arrived with her at the institution she refused to take said treatment or to be cared for.

NEW COMPANY

Formed to Produce Pure Food—Will Be Known as the Howell-Davis Company.

A great deal is being said at present about impure food and no doubt there is some ground for some of the criticisms being made. Just recently there has been organized a company to put on the market pure food products put up in glass and this company is known as the Howell-Davis company. This company will put its entire product up in glass thus avoiding all chance of poisoning so frequent in goods put up in tin. They have purchased all the up to date machinery for canning and preserving. One machine to make catsup has a capacity of 1500 gallons per day. Their kraut machine has a capacity of two tons per day. They will can tomatoes and all kinds of vegetables. This will give a good market for any one having any kind of fruit or vegetables to sell.

Mr. J. J. Davis who has made the vacuum process a study for years, will be at the head of the company and after years of experimenting is able not only to give to the public a pure food product, but one with its natural color and flavor. Any one desirous of disposing of tomatoes, cabbage, or any kind of fruit, can see want column of this paper.

In New York City are about 700 signs that read "Watchmaker," and not a single one of them belongs to a watchmaker, and few that have them could make a watch, and if they could and did the watch would cost about $100, while any of them can sell a better watch for $20 that came from a great factory.
